Three Teachers Are Appointed

'63 Budget of $1.45 Million Approved by School Board

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The Salem Board of Education Monday night approved a 1963 budget calling for general fund receipts and expenditures of $1,458,500—an increase of $34,266 over this year's budget.

Estimated receipts for 1963 show anticipated increases from both the school foundation program and property taxes. Property taxes are expected to yield $1,025,000 for the general fund in 1963, compared to $1,005,629 this year; the foundation program should produce $27,595 more than the 1962 total of $397,405, according to budget figures.

The increase in foundation funds is due to formula allowances for classroom units and recognition of higher training levels of several teachers who have completed their degrees or have taken additional graduate work.

A gain on the new evaluation for the millage within the ten-mill limitation accounts for the anticipated increase in property tax revenue.

Instruction Cost Up

The largest increase in expenditures for 1963 will come from the cost of instruction. This figure will be up $20,000 over the $935,000 spent in this area in 1962.

The increase will provide for salary increments and increases due to professional improvement of teachers; for some further salary adjustments; and for additional educational materials and supplies.

Receipts in the bond retirement fund for 1963 are expected to exceed expenditures by $67,042.04.

This anticipated balance probably will result in some decrease in millage for the bonded indebtedness of the schools, Supt. Paul E. Smith said.

Will Borrow $113,000

The board authorized Clerk-Treasurer Wallace King to borrow $113,000 to pay bills and meet payrolls for the next month. King reported that the financial condition of the schools is about as anticipated for this time of year.

When all tax and foundation monies are in, the board expects to finish the year with a slight balance.

The resignations of three teachers and the appointments of three others were approved by the board.

Resigning were John Gonyula and Violet Cotter, both new teachers who had applied here but took jobs elsewhere; and Frank Sapienza, who taught at the Junior High building last year.

Hired were Mrs. Betty Thatcher, Mrs. Ruth Zeller and Mrs. Anne Bennett. All three are from Salem. Mrs. Thatcher will teach French and Mrs. Zeller will teach German at Junior High on a part-time basis. Each will receive $2,175. Mrs. Bennett is a former elementary teacher here, returning from Warren.

Delay In Letting Contract

Awarding of a contract for a new lighting system at Reilly Stadium was delayed until the four bids received are clarified. Supt. Smith said that due to an oversight in drawing up specifications for the new system, all of the bidders did not bid on the same number of lights.

The superintendent said the bids probably can be straightened out and a contract let within a few days. The new lighting system, which will cost approximately $15,000, is expected to be ready before the high school football season opens this fall.

An attempt is being made to sell the old lighting system.

A contract granting West Branch School the use of Reilly Stadium for its home football games for at least the next two years was approved by the board. West Branch will pay $100 for each night game and $75 for each day game. This is an increase over last year's fee of $85 for a night game and $70 for a day game.

The board denied a request by the local Civil Defense organization that storage space be provided in four of the city schools for supplies necessary in using the buildings as fall-out shelters.

The board explained there is no question about the buildings being available as fall-out shelters in case of an attack, but they backed up the contention of Supt. Smith that there is no storage space available in any of the buildings for Civil Defense supplies.

Harmon Zepernick, local Civil Defense coordinator who attended last night's board meeting, said the space required for storage purposes is approximately one and one-fourth cubic feet for each person to be sheltered. Supplies to be stored include water, food, medical supplies, radiological equipment and sanitation supplies.

15 Buildings Sought

School buildings Civil Defense wants to use as fall-out shelters are Junior High, Buckeye, McKinley and Reilly. There is a total of 18 public and private buildings throughout the city which the Civil Defense is seeking permission to use as possible fall-out shelters.

The school board suggested that outside funds might be used by the Civil Defense to build its own storage space in or adjacent to the buildings it would like to use as shelters. State law prohibits public schools from spending money for this purpose.

Supt. Smith reported that Kent State University is proceeding with plans to open an extension center here this fall. He said the biggest concern is the lack of interest thus far of recent high school graduates.

Most of those who have shown an interest in signing up for courses in the extension center, he said, are people who already have had some college experience.

K. Boasts of Indestructible Global Rocket

Makes Claim During Interview With 13 American Editors

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev says the Soviet Union has a global rocket that can "hit a fly in outer space" and cannot be destroyed by "any antirocket means."

Khrushchev made the claim near the end on a 2½-hour interview with 13 American editors during which he also stressed that West Berlin is the crux of the East-West dispute and must be settled by getting Western troops out of the city. He set no new deadline for their exit.

Not Boasting K Says

"I am not boasting," Khrushchev told the editors in his Kremlin conference room, "but we actually have a global rocket which cannot be destroyed by any antirocket means, and I know, if anyone does, what antirocket means are, because we do have them."

"The high-altitude explosion carried out by the United States will in no way interfere with the action of our global rocket," he declared.

Khrushchev spent 37 minutes emphasizing the importance of the Berlin issue, accusing the Western powers of clinging to West Berlin as a military bridgehead.

"As long as the occupation forces of the U.S., Britain and France remain in West Berlin, they will play the role of an irritant which will raise the temperature in the relations between states," he declared.

If the Western troops depart, Khrushchev said, the Soviet Union is willing to join the Allies in a pledge of noninterference with West Berlin life, a guarantee to be "sealed with the seal of the United Nations."

He threatened anew to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, a move the Russians claim would end Western rights in West Berlin.

"When shall we do it?" he asked. "We shall not hurry, but neither shall we tarry. I will not set any time limit."

Khrushchev repeated his demand that the Western powers agree to a peace treaty with all Germany and leave West Berlin a free, demilitarized city.

"If this question were settled," he said, "we would remove the main obstacle which stands in the way of relaxation of tension and sets us at loggerheads with the U.S., Britain and France."

The interview was released the same day the Soviet Union rejected a U.S.-British-French proposal that four power talks be called in Berlin to try to ease the tension caused by shootings along the dividing wall.

The premier said the Soviet Un-

Sox Is Manager For Local Airport

Joe Sox, a commercial pilot and licensed flying instructor, was named manager of the new Salem Air Park and Norman Weingart was elected president of the board of directors of the new Salem airport Monday night.

Kern Riffe was named board vice-president and Wallace King, secretary-treasurer. Other directors chosen for one year are Fred Paddon, L. P. Anderson, Carl Lippiatt, William Butler and Sox.

The sale of $100,000 of 4 percent debenture bonds was also authorized, to be paid through profits from operation of the airport.

The bonds will be sold to pay for improvements at the airport, a five-minute drive from the downtown Salem business district north on the Ellsworth Road (Route 45).

Major changes in expansion of the field, Weingart said, will be the changeover from a 2,600 feet sod landing strip to a 3,000 feet hardtop strip to accommodate business aircraft and the addition of more hangars. Re-grading and clearing are also in the plans.

One-hundred octane gasoline, in addition to the 80-octane in regular use, will be provided immediately for use in twin-engine passenger planes.

Another feature is the launching of a full-scale student training course for pilots, probably under the direction of Sox, who is licensed by the Federal Aviation Administration not only as a flying instructor but also as an instrument instructor. This program is expected to start this year.

The new corporation will buy five acres of adjoining land from Richard and David Myers to add the extra 400 feet to the existing runway.

Night lights have been installed at the field so flights and flight training may proceed round-the-clock.

The port and planes will be equipped with radio to allow incoming passengers to call ahead so transportation to Salem proper will be immediately available upon landing.

GI Toll Nine In S. Viet Nam

Body of 5th Copter Victim Discovered

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Searchers have found the body of another American serviceman from a U.S. Army helicopter shot down by the Communists Sunday. This brought the toll to five Americans dead and four missing in three air crashes in two days.

The body, that of an enlisted man, was found about a mile from the wreckage of the helicopter, which plunged into the jungle near the Laotian border 280 miles northeast of Saigon. He apparently had walked the mile despite mortal wounds.

Charred bodies of two U.S. Army officers, another enlisted man and a Vietnamese officer were found earlier at the crash site.

Maj. Robert F. Cornell, commander of the 8th U.S. Helicopter Squadron, and a second Vietnamese officer survived.

The Pentagon announced in Washington the Americans aboard the helicopter were Lt. Col. Anthony J. Tenca, Fairfax, Va.; Cornell, of Daleville, Ala.; Chief WO Joseph Goldberg, Sanford, N.C.; Spec. 5 James E. Lane, Spring Lake, N.C.; and Spec. 5 Harold L. Guthrie, Burlington, N.C.

Cornell, found Sunday night wandering in the jungle about five miles from the wreckage, suffered only bruises. The Vietnamese survivor had been wounded by Communist bullets.

It was Cornell's second injury as a result of Red gunfire. He was shot in the heel May 23 while flying a helicopter over the Mekong River delta.

Planes continued searching a

Both Sides Predict Win In Voting Today

Outcome Regarded Crucial To JFK's Legislative Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle forces were closely drawn for a Senate vote today on whether to kill the administration's compromise health care plan for the elderly. Both sides cautiously predicted victory.

The outcome could be crucial to the future of President Kennedy's legislative program.

If Kennedy wins this test, his lieutenants will benefit by the psychology of that victory in their efforts to rally support for other major segments of his program.

A Senate defeat, stacked on top of House rebuffs on other issues, could put the administration to rout.

Rearguard action probably could save the President's House-passed trade program and salvage some other measures of lesser importance.

But rejection of the health program would be certain to whet the opposition knives for any aid to education legislation, for any farm bill satisfactory to the administration and for its tax revision measure.

A scheduled midafternoon vote on a motion to kill the health plan amendment to a House-passed bill to revise the public assistance program appeared likely to turn on the point of which side has the fewer absentees.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he believes there is a majority for the motion to kill. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, predicted the administration would win by two votes "if we can get all of our members here."

Whatever the result of today's voting, the administration's compromise plan—which would finance hospital and nursing home care for the elderly through Social Security taxes—faces a doubtful future in Congress.

A Senate defeat would bury it for this session. A Senate victory

IBOP Maps Campaign on Competition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A course of action, to meet the competition of "the flood of ceramics from low-wage nations" was plotted Monday by the 72-year-old International Brotherhood of Operative Potters at its 68th annual convention.

Brotherhood President E. L. Wheatley said the union will consider evidence to be presented July 24-25 at hearings before the Tariff Commission in Washington, D.C.

The union and two management organizations, the Fina China Guild and the United States Pottery Association, are seeking a tariff adjustment.

Wheatley also said the union has entered into an agreement with several potteries to share the cost of a study aimed at bringing United States production to top efficiency, to meet in particular competition from Yugoslavia and Japan.

Wheatley said potters employed in the field of sanitary fixtures are not greatly imperilled by foreign imports because of transportation difficulties. But, he said, dinnerware, tile, and novelty ceramics workers are "continuously imperilled by low-wage foreign competition."

Incomes, Industrial Output Hit High

WASHINGTON (AP)— Personal incomes of Americans and the nation's industrial production advanced in June to record highs.

But the income gains were only half as great as in the previous month. Industrial production rose so slightly as to remain almost on dead center.

The two key economic indicators—expected to be scrutinized closely by President Kennedy as he considers seeking an economy-pursuing tax cut this year—were disclosed Monday.

The Commerce Department said personal incomes rose $700 million in June to a record annual rate of $440.4 billion, an increase of $24 billion over June 1961. But the increase was only about half as big as the one registered in May and was substantially smaller than the advances made earlier this year.

The Federal Reserve Board said that industrial production in June struggled upward to a record 117.8 per cent of the 1957 level compared with 117.5 per cent in May. Some economists expressed surprise that it hadn't declined in the face of the stock market plunge and a strike which cut sharply into auto production.

The increase was less than half that recorded in May, and was so small the board said: "Most measures of business activity changed little in June."

The Reserve Board's monthly report showed these items on the minus side:

An 8 per cent decrease in auto production, attributable mostly to a strike at the Ford Motor Co.,

parts plant at Walton Hills, Ohio, which led to an assembly line shutdown of several days.

An 8 per cent decline in iron and steel production following a 14 per cent drop in May.

A decline in stock prices to a

Water Sample Fees Boosted

TB Tests Planned By Health Officials

LISBON — Columbiana County Health Department has raised from $1 to $3 the fee for collecting and handling water samples. Third reading and passage of this amendment to the sanitary regulations was given Monday at the monthly meeting at the Court-house.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, announced that he and Mrs. Violet Peterson, health department nurse, will give the Mantoux tuberculin test to patients in the county's six nursing homes. They made their first visit Monday and gave nine tests.

He also reported that Mantoux testing of new prisoners at the county jail led to the detection last month of an active case of tuberculosis in a Midland, Pa., man. The court released him to enter a sanatorium.

Fifty-two plumbing and sewage permits were issued the past month, according to Sanitarian Harry Stockdale.

He reported holding consultations with the mayors of Columbiana and Leetonia regarding three prospective sites for landfill dumps.

He also reported making a survey of facilities at Guilford Lake State Park.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, Public Health League, gave a report on costs of operating the County Tuberculosis Clinic the last several years. The clinic was placed under control of the County Board of Health this year.

President Howard M. Cole and Felix Butch, both of Lisbon, and Glenn Hawkins of New Waterford were present.

Board members Fred Johnson of Summitville and Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana were absent.

None Hurt, One Cited In Traffic Mishaps

No one was hurt in two area traffic accidents investigated by the State Highway Patrol Monday.

One motorist was arrested. Lila Harris, 42, of RD 3, Salem, was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after her car ran into the rear of an auto operated by Charles A. Liggitt, 49, of RD 4, Lisbon, at the junction of Depot and Pigeon Roads south of Salem at 3:10 p.m.

The Patrol said Liggitt was stopped for a stop sign when the mishap occurred.

A car operated by Walter E. Murphy, 20, of Minerva, and a truck driven by Robert Hosteller, 27, of North Lawrence sideswiped on a curve on Rt. 172 about three miles east of the Stark County line, at 3:15 p.m., causing moderate damage to both vehicles.

2 Dead, 38 Ill In Pike Tunnel Crash

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—An elderly Florida couple was injured fatally Monday in a fiery crash inside the Laurel Hill tunnel on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 10 miles west of here.

Thirty-eight other persons occupying cars in the tunnel at the time were sent to Somerset Community Hospital, most of them with smoke inhalation. A hospital spokesman said none of the 26 detained was in serious condition.

State police quoted witnesses that an auto driven by Mrs. Maude Brunsbold, 75, of Tampa hit the right wall of the tunnel and veered into the oncoming truck's path. The wreckage caught fire and filled the tunnel with smoke.

Mrs. Brunsbold's husband, Elmer J., 78, was dead on arrival at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Brunsbold died there a half hour later.

The truck driver, Merle Eutsey, 42, of Rt. 1, Stahlstown, Pa., escaped injury.

Firemen wearing gas masks extinguished the blaze in the tunnel.

Somerset Fire Chief Newton Picking said 25 cars were towed from the tunnel's east portal and state police said an undetermined number were pulled from the west portal.

The tunnel was closed for about 3½ hours.

Leetonia Seeks Cash Transfusion For Overtaxed Scholarship Fund

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

LEETONIA — Leetonia school officials are hoping for a transfusion of hard cash to revitalize the village's overtaxed scholarship fund.

Since the fund's inception seven years ago, village residents have donated $3,500 to help a septet of scholars get a college education or advanced training.

Many give anonymously and regularly without solicitation. So closely guarded is the anonymity of several donors that should the secret leak out, they would cease payments immediately.

The fund was born rather casually in 1955 when Paul Hayes was superintendent of schools. Hayes remarked "it would be nice" if Leetonia had a cash fund to help launch the college careers of some of the school's finest scholastic products. This off-hand remark became the basis for the annual scholarship plan.

THE LOAN AMOUNTS to $500 paid over a two-year period. Seven years ago the $250 a year was sufficient to pay tuition, but the figure isn't realistic in 1962, says Superintendent Victor Wood. For instance, tuition at one of Ohio's state universities, always in the lowest tuition bracket, is $400 a year, $150 above the amount considered sufficient when the loan fund was formed.

Bringing the scholarship sum abreast of increased college costs is the main concern of a newly appointed Board of Trustees. The seven members are Dr. Guy Nolette, representing the school board, Mr. Woods, school administration, David Patterson, president of the Parent-Teachers Association, Dan Friedberg, high school guidance counselor, Miss Florence Wilhelm, senior class adviser, and Charles Steltz, representing the community.

IT IS THE JOB OF THE trustees to encourage more individuals and groups to contribute to the scholarship fund. So far the fund-raising has been conducted on a catch-as-catch-can basis, and news of the scholarship fund has spread only by word of mouth. The board wants to invite the total participation of the people of Leetonia and make the fund a true community project.

A secondary job of the group will be to draw up revised rules governing the operation of the fund.

The money is not given to the students to use as they see fit. Instead, the college or other institution bills the Leetonia schools each term and a check is sent from the business office.

The recipients are urged to return the money to the fund if possible to help provide scholarship money for future students. Some of the graduates have already returned the money, Woods reports. What do the students themselves think of the scholarship fund?

"IT WAS A BIG HELP," two recipients, Linda Farrington and Theodore Fickes, declare. Linda, reared on a farm owned by her father, Glenn, was the 1959 winner and will be a senior next year at Ohio University where she is majoring in Greek and Latin. She started out in a pre-medical course but switched to languages. She hopes to do graduate work and then teach Greek and Latin in college.

Fickes is heading toward a career as a veterinarian. Now in his second year in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Ohio State University, Fickes has his heart set on healing horses. A horseman since he was 12 years old, Fickes works part-time at a private show horse stable in Gahanna while studying at OSU. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirly Fickes of Somer St. Ext.

The first student to benefit from the scholarship fund in 1956 was Rosella Altomare, now Mrs. Rosella Divincenzo of Youngstown. Mrs. Divincenzo graduated as a registered nurse from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown where she is now a head nurse. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Altomare, formerly of Leetonia, now of Coraopolis, Pa.

THE 1961 RECIPIENT, Marilyn Weikart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weikart of Washington, also is aspiring toward a nursing career. She is a student at St. Luke's Hospital in Cleveland.

Other recipients were Sandra Kliner in 1957, Terry Tilley in 1960, and Karen Miller, this year's winner.

Sandra is now Mrs. James Rowan and has been teaching the past year in Lisbon schools, although she is waiting now to see where her reservist husband is sent before making plans for next fall. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kliner of 232 Elm St., Sandra attended the College of Wooster, then transferred to Kent State University where she received her degree in education.

Tilley will be a junior in architectural engineering at Ohio University this fall. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tilley of High St., Washingtonville.

The latest winner, Miss Miller, the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth

CIA HEADQUARTERS — The Central Intelligence Agency's new headquarters in McLean, Va., is now completed and in use. It is in a wooded area near the Potomac river west of Washington, D. C., and about eight miles from the nation's capital.

Miller of Walnut St., has just begun her work on a degree in education at Kent State University. She plans to teach kindergarten.

Winners are picked on the basis of scholarship, but they must also show a need, Woods says. The new trustees will hold their first meeting in August to organize. If their hopes are realized, the top student chosen from the 1963 graduating class may be awarded a fatter scholarship check than his predecessors.

DiSalle Rips Mechem On Re-Election Tour

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Blasting Republicans along the way, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle headed his re-election campaign caravan deeper into Southeastern Ohio today.

Appearances in McArthur, Jackson, Pomeroy, Gallipolis and Ironton will be climaxed with a television broadcast tonight from Huntington, W. Va., to wind up the first two days of a statewide drive during the coming weeks.

DiSalle chose the home county of Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, Monday night to accuse GOP legislative leaders of voting for appropriations but voting against revenues to finance them.

The address to 300 Democratic followers meeting in Ohio University copped earlier appearances Monday in Lancaster, New Lexington and Logan.

DiSalle said he liked Mechem personally but asserted that "Stanley just isn't with the problems of today."

"If Rip Van Winkle could have slept through the ages, he might not have been awakened to new bottling on the greer, but to new satellites and missiles orbiting the earth.

"I think this is where Sen. Rip Van Mechem stands today," DiSalle observed as laughter filled the hall.

"Stanley was never bashful in voting for appropriations, probably more than anyone in Ohio except House Speaker Roger Cloud, but Mechem doesn't want to raise the funds for these appropriations. He didn't vote one dime for taxation for the appropriations he voted for."

The governor cited what he termed inconsistency between Cloud, R-Logan, and Mechem over funds for the Training Institute of Central Ohio, a facility in Columbus for unruly inmates of Lancaster Boys Industrial School.

The governor quoted Mechem as saying money was over - appropriated for the institute only to have Cloud on the following day call for Controlling Board release of an extra $270,000.

Cloud proposed use of the money from a $4.5 million in unspent mental hygiene funds last year to complete staffing the institute, only half used since the opening last year.

DiSalle recalled that the institute was planned during a previous legislature in which Mechem was Senate majority leader.

"All this was planned and appropriated before I even took office," DiSalle said.

The governor warned that full-time college enrollment may hit 338,737 in 1970, compared with today's total of 115,000 in state and private schools.

"In short," he said, "we aren't doing enough in the higher education field, and it could be more deficient than most of us imagine. . . . Some Republican legislators have sounded off quite proudly about their appropriations to state universities, but they fail to inform the people that a big slice of that appropriated money comes from the fees the students, themselves, pay."

He blamed the last legislature for failure to appropriate enough money to prevent an increase in student fees at state universities for the next term. For example, the increase at Ohio State will be from $300 to $330 annually, he said.

William A. Lavelle, Athens County Democratic chairman, presided at the dinner here. Those at the speaker's table included Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who opposed DiSalle unsuccessfully in the May primary election.

McElroy took the occasion to say he has pledged support to DiSalle and the entire Democratic ticket for the Nov. 6 general election.

State Treasurer Joseph Ferguson, appearing for his son, Thomas, who seeks to succeed his father, touted McElroy as mayor of Cleveland before very long.

McElroy turned aside questions from newsmen but said that, as a former three-term Cleveland councilman, "I am naturally interested in the city of Cleveland."

Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze is expected to resign soon to accept appointment as secretary of health, education and welfare in Washington.

Dr. Vernon Alden, Ohio University's new president, predicted that the next decade would be the most challenging man has ever faced. He described universities as the magnets for growth of the state through higher education.

Springfield Municipal Court Judge Richard T. Cole joined the caravan in Lancaster. He is the nominee for the state Supreme Court term starting Jan. 2. Introduced at Athens was Common Pleas Court Judge James J. Mayer of Mansfield, nominee for the Jan. 1 term on the Supreme Court. DiSalle said he was highly pleased over the turnout at stops along the way. Compared with only a handful in the 1958 campaign, an estimated 300 turned out for a talk from the Perry County Courthouse steps in New Lexington and 250 for a speech in Logan's Worthington Park.

About 100 attended a luncheon meeting in Lancaster, first stop for the four-car caravan after leaving Columbus.

4 School Buses Are Purchased for Retarded Children

LISBON — Children going to the Retarded Children's School at Elkton in September will ride in four new, nine-passenger buses ordered Monday by Columbiana County commissioners.

The contract for the Chevrolet Greenbrier models went to the Columbiana Motor Co., Columbiana, on a bid of $9,340, the lowest of eight.

There was no trade-in. Station wagons used previously will be auctioned off by the school's advisory council since they were donated or purchased before the school came under control of the County Welfare Department.

Delivery of the new buses is requested by Aug. 20. They will be Omaha orange in color — similar to other school buses.

Funds for the purchase come from a two-tenths of a mill levy which county voters passed in May. Lettering of the buses will be done after delivery.

Commissioners made a $300 grant to St. Clair Township trustees for road maintenance, and authorized payment of $333.40 to the East Liverpool Memorial Association for Memorial Day expenses.

The association includes nine groups—American Legion Post 4 and its auxiliary, American Legion Post 374, VFW Post 66, Daughters of America Council 287, Gold Star Mothers, Marine Corps League Auxiliary, Navy Mothers Club 197, and Ladies of the G.A.R.

Service groups have until July 29, to apply for help on Memorial Day expenses. The county will pay up to $50 to each organization providing it submits paid bills.

United School District Sets Party for Gates

HANOVERTON — United Local School District will have a farewell party for Supt. and Mrs. Dale W. Gates at 2 p.m. Sunday in the elementary auditorium.

Executive head of the district the past eight years, Gates announced last month he will retire Aug. 1 after 37 years in the teaching profession.

There will be a program and refreshments. All residents of the school district are invited.

FINED BY MAYOR

William A. Zoccolo, Jr., 18, of 2014 Sutherland Blvd., was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer Monday for driving a car without a muffler. He was arrested by a state highway patrolman on Franklin Ave. Saturday.

Leetonia Boy Gets Federal Study Grant

LEETONIA — Gerry McCwan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gibson of 305 Chestnut St., has received word that an $800 federal grant-in-aid has been approved for his fourth year in pre-medical training at Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

Gerry is employed at the university during the summer. He is a member of the university's wrestling team, competing in the 150-pound class. Gerry, a graduate of Leetonia High School, is the stepson of Chief of Police Allen Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Holloway and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holloway spent last week fishing in northern Canada.

Mrs. H. A. Nahar of 212 High St. is a surgical patient in Salem City Hospital.

THE REBEKAH LODGE will hold its regular meeting this evening. Members are asked to bring cotton material and pink sewing scissors for working on the apron project. A benefit card party will be held in the Rebekah Hall Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ed Gotthardt Sr., and son Gary visited her brother-in-law, Joseph Miller of Niles, in the Trumbull Memorial Hospital in Warren Sunday. Mr. Miller fell at his home and received a broken pelvis and several broken ribs.

Mayor and Mrs. Ralph Kennedy attended the wedding and reception of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rudibaugh at the Methodist Church at Rogers Saturday evening.

Scouts Due Back Sunday From Philmont

LISBON — Twenty-two Boy Scouts and Explorers from troops of Columbiana Council are completing a great adventure—hiking and camping in the rugged mountain on Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N. M.

The boys are due back Sunday at the Erie-Lackawanna Station in Youngstown after a two-week absence.

Only official word from the party was a troop letter mailed after the arrival at Philmont.

Don Theiss of Chester, W. Va., the assistant scoutmaster and official scribe for the trip, said they traveled through seven states

Celebrezze to Washington

When a man wins five terms as mayor of Cleveland and sets a new record for holding on to his city's top office, he must have been doing something right.

Anthony J. Celebrezze was tapped as the successor to Abraham A. Ribicoff as secretary of health, welfare and education because he had been doing something right. It is important that he belongs to the Democratic party and is a perennially strong vote-getter in the heavily Democratic city that potentially holds the balance of power in Ohio in presidential elections.

It is important that he is foreign-born. He has the political appeal that makes men with foreign origins popular in large cities with strong minorities of voters of recent and remote foreign origins.

It is important, too, that he has the backing of most of the people in Cleveland who pull that city's political strings. They will be pleased with his appointment to Cabinet status in the Kennedy administration, and to the extent they are pleased they will work harder for President Kennedy's success and be less critical of his shortcomings.

This is particularly meaningful when it's borne in mind that the name of Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle had been mentioned as the probable successor to Secretary Ribicoff so often it had begun to seem as though he might be running for re-election as governor this year for his health. Mayor Celebrezze and Gov. DiSalle live on opposite sides of the political tracks.

So much for the more obvious politics of the Celebrezze appointment.

The way we get good government under the two-party system is to combine political realities with human capabilities. Mayor Celebrezze by all accounts is a sound administrator who gets results by eternal vigilance, rarely raising his voice but always keeping his eyes open.

Mr. Ribicoff seems not to have liked the HEW job and resigned from it to run for senator in Connecticut with no regrets. Mayor Celebrezze may not like it either, but Ohioans impressed by his re-election five times are betting Washington will like the mayor. As the only Cabinet member from Ohio, he will be the focus of this state's Democratic pride in the Kennedy administration.

Why Not a 'Zadok Street?'

Speaking of streets, Salem has no thoroughfare named in honor of Zadok Street, the Quaker from Salem, N.J., who platted our community in 1806.

The recent visit of the modern wagon train from Salem, N.J., retracing the pioneers' original steps westward, brought this to mind.

Our city has many streets named in honor of the memory of our great presidents, which is splendid, but none reveres the memory of the man who was actually responsible for our city being started, although he was not the first settler on the scene.

Street signs here call attention to such statesmen as Jefferson, Lincoln, Madison, Cleveland, Franklin, Washington, Wilson and Roosevelt, and we even have Union and Liberty, and also Ohio and Pennsylvania avenues, but the nearest one that comes close to being a reminder of the city's ancestry is Quaker Drive which leads to the Russell Riley residence off Highland.

Perhaps our City Council would see fit to adopt a resolution changing the name of some thoroughfare to Zadok Street, without abbreviating the word.

And What Would They Look At

The International Travel Act of 1961 is now a year old, and its bright promise is not being fulfilled, says Sylvia Porter, business columnist. The bright promise was getting back some of the billions U.S. tourists have been spending overseas.

But tourists are not being lured here by the International Travel Act of 1961, which put the U.S. government in charge of making the idea of visiting this country attractive. Miss Porter does not dig deeply into the reasons, but they require little excavating. They are on the surface.

There aren't enough potential customers abroad to create a demand for touring in the United States. Their standard of living, though rising, is far below the point that produces surplus funds for traveling. Moreover, among those who do come there is a shock in store when they encounter U.S. prices.

Unlike the Old World, there is a scarcity of facilities here, for low-budget tourists. There also is a scarcity of hospitality for travelers who do not speak the language and know the customs. What guarantee would a colored visitor have against segregation? What would happen to a Frenchman who became embroiled with a traffic policeman? Who would understand that an Englishman meant no harm in taking his dog into a restaurant.

And what would tourists look at here? Our historic buildings have been torn down to make room for parking lots? Our monuments are frequently in a state of littered decay. Our citizens are tongue-tied about the history of their country and blank about the history of their locality.

The longer the tourists wait, the better off they'll be—and so will we.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: You knew darned well what I wanted when I asked for French postcards. When we got pictures of the statuary at Versailles your Aunt Effie almost laughed herself into the hospital. The pictures weren't even of the opposite sex in all cases.

Do you suppose people formerly looked like that? Are we changing the line of homo sapiens? I am referring particularly to the ladies. There isn't one of those babes who wouldn't be on a crash reducing diet today, trying to slim down.

We did enjoy your letters, even if your postcards left something to be desired. . . shall we say? We never knew before that the British are pushovers for artificial flowers and we would be too if ours looked as real as theirs do; that their young girls look like floosies because they use too much makeup and not enough material at the bottoms of their skirts;

That there are no screen doors or window screens in the United Kingdom; that front doors are painted bright colors and many householders cover them with cloth drapes to protect them from the sun;

That summer daylight is almost continuous in Edinburgh because it's farther north than Newfoundland; that Queen Elizabeth draws no cheers in Scotland despite the fact her mother is a Scot and her husband is the Duke of Edinburgh; that there are still pill boxes in evidence, built to resist the Nazi invasion that never occurred;

That British girls have good-looking legs (trust you to take note of that) and this may be the result of much walking and bike riding; that crash helmets are compulsory for motorcyclists; that coffee over there has gone from too weak to too strong as the result of universal use of instant coffee.

That warm beer and warm whisky are tastier than their chilled versions in the United States; that American-made cars are almost never used because they would be unwieldy on sharp turns and in narrow streets; that British bobbies are young and handsome and no one knows what happens to the old one that get fat and ugly;

That the Rolls Royce Princess sedans used to show off royalty make our ceremonial cars look like compacts; that the U.S. Navy's Calcuterra and the Coast Guard cutters Absecon and Yakutat, also the Coast Guard training ship Eagle, a sailing vessel, were in Edinburgh on Independence Day and you went all the way to the dock to wish your countrymen a happy day;

Also that you felt like a Tory that day for taking off your hat when the Queen went by because Scotsmen just stared at the lady and showed no respect; also that bagpipes never were intended to be heard at close range but from the hills far away;

Also that you'd better know that high tea in Scotland is supper and the big meal is lunch or you'll go to bed hungry; also that in first-class restaurants and hostels you drink coffee after the meal in the lounge, never at the table;

Also that service station people, who frequently are women, never clean the "wind-screen" except by request and then are so indifferent about it you might as well have spit on it and cleaned it yourself; plus the fact they hide the spare tire on a Austin Cambridge so cleverly you had to collar an expert to tell you where it was;

And plus the astonishing information that there are no fireplugs in British towns — nothing but signs telling firemen where to find water connections underground but the mail boxes look like giant red fireplugs so it all comes out even.

In your case, travel was not only broadening; it flattened you. We marvel at the amount of trivia that stuck to you. Regards to the folks.

Political Labeling Dangerous

By NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER

Before Victor Riesel left for Europe, he invited Nelson A. Rockefeller, governor of New York, to write a column on talk of his attempt to change the image of the Republican party. Here is Mr. Rockefeller's reply.

By NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER

The currently popular habit of rigid classification of laws, leaders and policies as "liberal" or "conservative" is, I think, both a product of mental laziness and a weapon of political demagoguery.

It is dangerous because it distorts the great issues before the American people which affect their entire future. It confuses the citizen by substituting a shallow slogan for a serious thought, the false label for the real goal.

It invites the citizen to say, in effect: "Don't confuse me with facts — my mind's already made up."

Yet never has there been a time when it was more important for the citizens of our democracy to know the facts, to look beyond the labels and the "images" of political parties and political leaders, and to seek out courageously the truths that can keep us free.

WE LIVE in an era with an unprecedented variety of problems which our political parties and leaders must help us to meet. And these infinitely varied problems are constantly changing in themselves, as our complex society unfolds and as science quickens its rate of progress.

In such an era, the obsolete slogan-labels — largely dating from the days of the New Deal and largely unrelated to the basic matters we must meet today — are meaningless.

We must approach these problems, not with subjective slogans and misleading labels, but with objective methods of inquiry and decision, working within a framework of the fundamental beliefs and the basic values of our free society.

We live in the greatest society known to recorded history, a society of free men with free institutions based on the initiative and the genius of the free individual. We must approach all problems of our society, therefore, with a firm belief in this individual — his freedom, his dignity, and his right to equality of opportunity.

WE MUST, in my judgment, also hold to the elemental concepts that the government closest to the people is the best government — and that fiscal integrity is essential to both order and progress.

With such a framework of values, then, we must approach our methods and intellectual integrity of a scientist in his laboratory.

A scientist does not say: "I am going to try to come up with a conservative solution to this problem," or "a liberal solution." He asks: "What are the facts?"

These obtained, he tries to put them together in terms of the objectives he is seeking.

Why should we approach the fateful decisions of public policy with any less rationality and objectivity?

Under the terms of "liberal" and "conservative," some would hold that policies welcomed by labor are "liberal," while those cheered by business are "conservative."

The truth is that all progress for all sections of the community depends upon interrelated factors.

LABOR DEPENDS upon the job which only a prospering business can provide. Business depends upon a responsible and prosperous labor force.

Both business and labor feed the productive genius of agriculture. And all the services of the government repaired for an expanding population depend for their financing upon revenues attainable only through general economic progress and growth.

This is the dynamic circle of progress for our free society. For these are the means by which more people are employed at better pay, more goods are consumed, more homes are built, more opportunities are created for human advancement.

This circle of progress must not be broken by spurious issues, imaginary conflicts, or false labels.

It can be forged only by the kind of political leadership that looks, realistically and steadfastly, to the general good of all the people — without fear of, or regard to, the slogans of pressure-group politics.

Believing this deeply, I, as a Republican, find much foolishness in all argumentation about whether our political party should be moving to the left or to the right, or revising its "image."

INDEED, the contrived search for an "image," in itself, sounds to me like an exercise in political dishonesty.

I think that if we spend less time arguing about abstract ideology or the devices of public relations — and more time talking about specific problems and specific programs to solve them — we will be far more effective as a party.

Thus, I can view with equanimity the simultaneous "discoveries" by some politicians that I am sponsoring a "liberal" program in New York State — while Democratic critics pretend to see me swinging to the "conservative" side.

The plain fact, and ruling purpose, of my politics is simply this: To meet and to solve the state's problems in the most responsible, creative, and effective way.

I think this is good Republicanism.

I think this is good government. And I think both are vital to the future strength and well-being of our free society.

Apple vs Onion

U.S., European Economies Differ

A favorite topic of conversation nowadays among businessmen in Europe concerns the American economy. There are many versions of what is wrong with the business trend in the United States, but most of the analysts fail to take into account that comparing America and Europe is somewhat like comparing apples and onions. The problems and different requirements

Sooner or later, the obvious becomes news. The obvious in America today is that the national economy is not a natural economy, and that it is burdened and frustrated by nearly $50 billion of unproductive expenditure out of a federal budget of around $90 billion.

This unproductive expenditure has been deemed necessary for national defense—for America's survival. But the armament expense now has reached a point where it has slowed down the growth of business and saddled the nation with a burden of colossal proportions.

Everybody readily concedes that a world war distorts and disrupts a national economy. America never quite recovered from the economic impact of World War I as it experienced a series of recessions and eventually a deep depression which was "cured" — or rather suspended—only by the outbreak of World War II.

It now has been 17 years since the end of the last big war. But in the middle of that period, from 1950 to 1953, the Korean conflict—which was itself a war of no small proportions—brought to the American economy another era of unnatural operation.

MEANWHILE, the public debt in the United States has been increased so that the American people now pay out $9 billion a year in interest alone. No European nation has a comparable obligation. It is easy enough to talk about how Europe is "prospering," but the European people are not being required to pay taxes to cover any such interest cost.

Most important in its relationship to sound business growth is the fact that the United States has been spending money for armaments during the cold war at a rate that is close to what was spent on a hot war in the past.

The expenditures for defense during the past nine years of the cold war total $361.6 billion—or $75 billion more than was spent by the military services for World War II from July 1941 to June 1946.

Similarly, it is more than 13 times what the United States spent for World War I and nearly 3½ times the military expenditures in the three years of the Korean War.

While a huge expenditure for four years, as in the case of World War II, might be digested —though with real difficulty—in the postwar period, how can the national economy accomplish this now and keep on spending at an average of between $40 and $50 billion a year in a cold war? n

THIS IS the question that America will have to face up to if it expects to achieve some kind of growth of the economy.

How long can expenditures for unproductive purposes be continued without forcing a bigger and bigger gap between the outgoing payments of gold and the incoming flow of gold?

How long can wage costs continue to be inflated while prices stand still and consumer demand drops off because of years of a deep depression?

The proposals in Washington that a tax cut be given or that tax-depreciation rules be revised by new laws don't by themselves solve the problem arising out of a stagnating economy. America faces a period of readjustment of a fundamental character.

Unless the outflow of American money is equaled by the inflow and unless the United States Treasury's receipts are enough to balance the budget, the confidence of world bankers in the American dollar will weaken.

MANY BANKERS in Europe already are convinced that a revaluation of the gold content of the dollar is inevitable. They read in the press that deficit spending in America has suddenly been accepted as good economics among President Kennedy's advisers.

This revives the age-old comment of economists—that governments, when burdened by excessive monetary unit and cheat the people again and again.

The central issue today is armament expense. Unless it is gradually reduced, there will be little chance for a natural economy to operate in the 1960s.

And unless business expansion and modernization of plant and equipment, for example, can be encouraged by a return to productive expenditures by government so that tax receipts will balance the budget, the nation will experience a series of recesses of this decade.

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Dwellers in the Great Smoky Mountains will long remember Charlie Garland.

They just don't build hillbillies anymore like Charlie, who was known in his heyday as "The Iron Man of the Mountains."

Charlie became a legend among the hill people by one feat. He bought a cookstove at a hardware store here, heisted it onto his back and carried it 29 miles across a winding stony trail to his home without once setting it down.

The term "hillbilly" may carry a note of ridicule in the effete cities, but here in the home of the Southern highlander it is used with an affectionate respect based on admiration for the virile qualities of the men who long ago settled in these haze-covered mountains.

The traditions of the sturdy highlanders were celebrated here over the weekend in the 10th National Hillbilly Homecoming, a regional festival that now draws spectators and participants from a 20-state area.

The community here simply turns the clock back a generation or two for three days. Long beards and black mountain hats suddenly bloom everywhere.

Everyone gorges on country ham and red eye gravy, or fried fish and hush puppies, and has a fine old nostalgic gallus-snapping time. The nights ring with Elizabethan ballads, country music, and even the black bears creep down from the star-crowned hills to listen to the haunting strains of dulcimer, lute and fiddle.

But this annual festival celebrates a way of life that is passing among a people that formerly clung most stubbornly to the folklore of their forebears.

Great changes have come with in less than the span of a lifetime. Their natural beauty has turned the Great Smokies into one of the nation's favorite resort areas. New roads and skeletal steel power lines have destroyed the isolation of the mountaineer and brought him civilization's boons—electric lights, air conditioning, refrigeration, and television.

A chronicler of these changes, Norma Wilson, who with her husband operates one of the best known restaurants in the hill country, is a bit wistful over the swiftness of the transition.

"Mountain talk is gradually dying out," she said, "but mountain people still have the good qualities inherited from their forefathers."

"They're sincere, independent, and proud, and they'll do anything for you. They stick together, and they take care of their own. Some old-timers think public welfare is ruining the mountains."

Perhaps the most striking contrast between the old and the new in mountain life is this fact: The daughter of one of the most celebrated old moonshiners recently graduated as valedictorian of her high school class.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I read your column every day and we talk about it. Now I have a question I would like you to settle. Please print it so she can see your answer in black and white.

I'm a member of a labor union. I like to wear my union button at all times because I'm proud of it. My wife says I should not wear a celluloid button with a local number on it when we go out socially—especially to church. She claims it looks out of place and embarrasses her.

I say a labor union button is a badge of honor and it is never out of place. After all, in some countries people can't join labor unions and I'm proud to have the privilege. Please decide who is right.—UNION MAN.

Dear Ann: It's wonderful to be so proud of your union badge that you want to wear it everywhere, but I agree with your wife.

There's a time and a place for everything. Freedom to worship is also a privilege denied to people in some countries. But would you wear a badge to your next union meeting reading "I am a Lutheran"?

Wearing a union badge to church or social gatherings adds up to the same thing. It would not be WRONG — just out of place.

Born To Fight

Dear Ann: I'm ashamed to write this because you'll probably think I'm a terrible person. On paper it will sound awful but if you met me in person I'm sure you'd find me quite nice.

I married my husband 10 years ago. Three years later I divorced him because we always seemed to be fighting. One year later I married another man and my ex-husband married another woman. His marriage lasted two months and mine lasted three months. We agreed that we had both remarried out of spite. Within six months we were back together again as man and wife.

Eight months later we were fighting just like before. I put up with it for three years and then I divorced him. We couldn't stand to be apart and the kids kept crying for their Daddy, so I remarried him. Everything was fine until three months ago. Now we are fighting again and I want to unload him for good. But I'm afraid to take the step because of what has happened in the past. Please tell me what to do — AGATHA.

Dear Agatha: Some people can't get along with each other or without each other. You two are chronic battlers with a basic need for someone to fight with. Enlist the aid of a third party to referee the big ones instead of running to the divorce court. But stay married.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Macmillan Ousts Nine More In Government Shakeup

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan came under fire from his political foes and some friends today for his drastic reshaping of Britain's Conservative government.

Other supporters concluded that the major surgery had been necessary because of the obvious public dissatisfaction expressed in recent interim elections.

Nine more ministers, four with Cabinet rank, were fired Monday, bringing the total of top-rank dismissals since Friday to 16. Most of their replacements were younger men from the legislative rank and file.

"The prime minister has done himself enormous harm by this," said a Conservative peer, Lord Lambton, on a television program Monday night. "If you get rid of your closest lieutenants, there must be something wrong with the leadership."

Newspapers normally loyal to the Conservatives gave the reshuffle a cautious "wait and see" reception.

The Daily Mail saluted Macmillan for a high degree of political courage. It conceded the ruling party had been "shaken to the core," but said "the rot had gone deep and called for major surgery." It warned Macmillan the British people will be impatient for results.

From his political foes there were expectable demands that Macmillan himself should be the next to go.

"Macmillan's day is over and no Stalin-style purge of his old colleagues can conceal the fact," declared Liberal party leader Jo Grimond.

PATH OF FRAGRANCE — Townspeople prepare a floral "painting" on main street of Genzano, a small town south of Rome, Italy. Each year the long street is transformed, after two hours of work and four tons of petals, into a huge flower carpet.

Lisbon Council Votes To Buy 2-Ton Truck

LISBON — Village Council voted 5 to 1 Monday to buy a new 2-ton dump truck for the street department from Lewis Chevrolet. Its bid of $3,775 was highest of three proposals.

Also submitting bids on the advertisement for a 1½-ton truck were Lehman Dodge of the Salem Rd., $3,499, and O. S. Hill & Co., $3,767 and $3,877 depending on body selected.

None of the bidders was able to meet the specification with a 1½-ton model and had to bid a larger chassis. All proposals included trade-in allowance on the 1951 model dump truck now in use.

Councilman Ray Dixon chairman of the street committee, said the committee was unable to make a recommendation after studying the bids for one week. However, when other councilmen asked his personal opinion, he said he considered the Chevrolet the best buy on the basis of equipment offered despite being the highest in price.

Dixon is a mechanic at the county highway department garage. Robert Kelm and Fred Steele are the other members of the committee.

Dixon made the motion to buy the Chevrolet and was supported by Mrs. Blanche Neill, Clyde Pike, Kelm and Joseph Dornon. Fred Steele cast the opposing vote.

Councilmen asked for delivery within 30 days.

Trustees will meet again Aug. 6.

Drive To Slash Overseas Dollar Drain Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Defense Department drive to cut the overseas dollar drain another $900 million without sacrificing fighting power could increase the nation's defense budget, now running close to $50 billion yearly.

But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, in launching the three-year drive Monday, said he didn't know how much the new approach would cost the taxpayers.

"The savings in gold we believe will justify such a penalty," he told a news conference.

Most of the savings will come through reductions in overseas buying, much of it in Europe. Pentagon experts will also study whether fewer foreign workers can be employed at overseas military installations and will look into the possibility of sending prefabricated housing overseas.

This would mean the purchase of more supplies in this country at higher U.S. prices plus the added cost of transporting them to other countries.

The plan does not envision a ban on the flow of military dependents overseas. Servicemen's families only recently began traveling to Europe after an eight-month ban imposed to save money.

McNamara also expressed hope of expanding an experimental program of rotating 1,500-man Army battle groups to Europe for short periods without dependents. He estimated the savings here at between $1,000 and $3,000 annually per soldier.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Here is an answer for some women who ask what makes linen spot when stored for a time. Linen and cotton are made from a plant. Plants dry and turn brown. Therefore, a linen dealer told me linen should be washed or at least soaked in water from time to time to restore moisture. In the linen department of one of the largest stores in this country I was told their linen is kept in the basement because of the dampness.

To remove a "storage" spot from linen, wash in the regular way and bleach in the sun. If the spot doesn't disappear the first time, wet the linen again and put it in the strong sun again and repeat until the stain disappears.

MRS. B. BLATT

Dear Heloise: When I make griddle cakes, I grease the pan only once for the first cake. After that I rub a piece of raw potato over the hot griddle instead of greasing it. The cakes brown nicely and there is no smoke.

PATRICIA JUSTICE

Dear Heloise: Here is something that we love, is easy to fix, and quite different. I put poultry seasoning in my dumpling dough.

Make up the batter by using two cups of ready - prepared biscuit mix, three - fourths cup of milk, and mix with a fork but add one teaspoon of poultry seasoning to the flour mixture if you are making dumplings for chicken.

Spoon the batter into the stew, cook slowly for 10 minutes uncovered and 10 minutes covered - serve immediately.

'Salt of Earth' Class In Winona Honors Members

Twenty senior members of the "Salt of the Earth" Sunday School Class of the Winona Methodist Church were honored Friday when the class held a dinner at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayhew arranged the event and Mrs. Herbert Hanna and Mrs. John Ewing were hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stamp were in charge of the program following the dinner, and conducted group singing, testimonials to honored guests and a history of the progress of Post Office mail service to Winona from 1812 to the present.

Speaker of the evening was E. M. Jenkins, teacher of the class for many years, who told of his and his wife's recent trip to Canada and the Northwestern States.

The following guests were honored and presented a rosebud with crystal vase: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Whinery, Mrs. Helen Allison, Mr. and Mrs. William Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Gray, Mrs. Cora Cope, Mrs. Edna Porteous, Mrs. Claudia Mountz, Mr. Rollin Copock, Mrs. Myra Yengling, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fultz, Mrs. J. ## Richard A. Tolson Takes Michigan Girl As Bride White gladioli, red roses and palms decorated the Lennon Methodist Church in Lennon, Mich., July 7 for the marriage of Miss Ruth Arlene Weller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weller of Lennon, Mich., and Richard Allen Tolson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orvan Tolson of RD 3, Salem.

Rev. Leonard Kemp officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony. The soloist was Mrs. Lillian Wright of Marion, Ind., and Miss Barbara Dillon of Lennon presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and elbow-length sleeves. The neckline was outlined with small white flowers fastened with pearls and sequins and this design was repeated on the floor-length skirt which fell into a chapel train. A Swedish crown of pearls and cut glass held her traditional veil. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Miss Judy Weller of Durand, Mich., was maid of honor, and Mrs. Larry Stout of Kalamazoo, Mich., was bridesmaid. They wore white sheath dresses with blue lace overskirts and matching accessories and carried crescent bouquets of red roses.

The flower girl was Susan Diamond of Owosso, Mich., who was attired in blue and white and carried a basket of rose petals.

Danny Tolson, the bridegroom's nephew, was ringbearer.

The bridegroom's brother, Charles W. Tolson, was best man. Ushers were George Weller of Lennon, Mich., and Raymond Osugi of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Serving at the reception in the church parlor were Mrs. Mary Weller, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Gansley of Lennon, Mich. The bride's table was centered by a 4-tiered wedding cake surrounded by a garland of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Kalamazoo, Mich., and Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky. Mr. Tolson is a graduate of Malone College, Asbury College and Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky.

For her honeymoon in Northern Michigan and Kentucky, the bride wore a blue sheath dress and an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will spend the summer in Wilmore, Ky., and then take up residence in Westerville, Ohio, where Mr. Tolson will be pastor of the Orange Friends Church.

Wounded Self To Gain Asylum

Soblen Declares He Did Not Attempt To Commit Suicide

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen told the British high court today he knifed himself aboard a New York-bound airliner for the sole purpose of reaching British soil—and British justice.

In an affidavit supporting his fight against removal to America to face a life sentence as a Soviet spy, Soblen said he had no intention of committing suicide.

"The wound I inflicted on my wrist was longitudinal," he said. "Had I inflicted a circular wound across my wrist, I would have bled to death."

"Similarly, the cut in the abdomen ripped through the skin and belly muscles, but did not penetrate into the abdomen itself."

Soblen said he jumped his $100,000-bail and fled to Israel last month "because I was convinced of my own innocence of the counts against me, and because I felt that justice had not been done to me in the American courts."

"I further hoped that if I were able to enjoy my freedom a little longer, my innocence might be established."

Soblen was brought before the three-judge panel from Brixton Prison on a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release from the custody of the British Home Office. The British government claims he is a deportable alien in the country illegally.

If the court rules in the 62-year old fugitive's favor, his lawyers plan to press his appeal to the Home Office for asylum as a political refugee. He is suffering from leukemia—incurable cancer of the blood—and his doctors say he has only a few months to live.

Israeli authorities refused to let Soblen stay in Israel and on July 1 put him aboard a chartered airliner bound for New York via Athens and London. With him were an Israeli doctor and U.S. Marshal James McShane.

The judges will decide whether to continue a writ of habeas corpus Soblen's lawyers obtained in a lower court. The British government contends he landed in Britain without permission and has to leave when recovered from the suicide attempt.

If Soblen is freed, he could leave for any foreign port. The espionage charge against him is not extraditable under the extradition treaty between Britain and the United States.

Presumably, however, only a Communist country would accept him since he does not have a valid passport. He made the flight to Israel on a dead brother's Canadian passport.

would keep alive the administration's hopes of getting some kind of vote on the proposal in a House that has not shown itself disposed to act on the issue.

The compromise would provide hospitalization for persons over 65 but would not pay any doctors' fees. A private insurance option feature is provided under which the beneficiary could elect to take his benefits through a private policy.

The plan would be financed by an increase of one-fourth of 1 per cent each in the Social Security payroll tax on employer and employee, and an increase in the salary base on which the levy is paid from $4,800 to $5,200.

Deaths, Funerals

Bell Infant

Graveside services will be held today at 2 p.m. at the Washington Cemetery for Tammy Sue Bell, infant daughter of Wesley and Carrie C. Harrison Bell who was stillborn at 2:04 p.m. Monday at Salem City Hospital.

Survivors besides the parents are a brother, Wesley Allan, at home, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison, both of Washingtonville.

Hunt Pressed for Slaying Suspects

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—National Guardsmen and peace officers continued searching a densely wooded area about six miles north of here today for a hitchhiking harvest worker and his girl friend, sought on murder charges.

The fugitives are Harry J. Bloomer, believed to be from Youngstown, Ohio, and Shirley Nixon, 17, of Wilsonville, Neb.

They are accused of slaying Al Claycamp 37, Wakeeney city marshal, and wounding Sheriff Chet McAtee, 55, near Wakeeney Saturday night.

A deputy sheriff said he saw a couple matching the hitchhikers' descriptions near the community of Medora north of here Sunday night.

The scene is about 115 airline miles from Wakeeney and there was no official explanation of how the man and girl could have covered that distance in 24 hours.

The sheriff's office at Wakeeney said an intensive search disclosed no reports of stolen cars. All farmhouses were being checked to make sure the fugitives hadn't kidnaped anyone.

What are needed are students ready for 13th grade work.

The superintendent said that no graduate courses will be taught at the Salem Extension Center.

To Continue Program

The board voted to continue and possibly expand its summer tutorial program next year. This year's session, which is scheduled to conclude July 27, was termed highly successful. Enrollment in 11 classes totaled 299.

Courses were taught in U. S. History & Government, driver education, sociology, world history, spelling, typing arithmetic (2) reading (2) and electronics.

Expenses for the summer school program totaled $4,192. Of this amount, $3,192 was covered by tuition payments. The Board of Education subsidized the program for the remaining $1,000.

Due to the success of the driver training course in summer school, the board approved the superintendent's recommendation that the course be continued during the summer rather than be given during the school year.

A contract was awarded to Camp's Service Co. of Salem to blackout an area back of the Junior High School for recreation and physical education activities. Camp's bid of $2,221.97 was the lower of two received. City Asphalt and Paving of Youngstown bid $2,530.65.

The board is considering a request of Edward Miller and Robert Groner, who own and operate school buses under contract with the board, for a pay increase of $4 per bus per day for operating their eight buses.

Also under consideration is the question of whether the schools should award a contract for milk to the lowest bidder, even though that bidder gets the milk from suppliers outside the state.

Ford Joseph, Jr., president of the Salem Jaycees, offered that organization's services to the Board of Education. Supt. Smith suggested that the Jaycees, and other organizations desiring to do so, could help build up the schools' libraries with books and films from an approved list.

Peruvian Cabinet Resigns; Coup Believed Imminent

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A military coup was reported imminent today following the resignation of the Peruvian Cabinet because President Manuel Prado refused to bow to the armed forces' demands that he nullify the June 10 national elections.

Premier Carlos Monreyra Paz Soldan and his ministers quit Monday night during a four-hour emergency meeting with Prado. Ex-Fiance Minister Alex Zarak told newsmen he expected the armed forces to take power in a day or two.

Word of the Cabinet resignation was received calmly in Lima. The rest of Peru also was reported quiet. Prado went from the Cabinet meeting to a party in his honor given by the diplomatic corps.

The military chiefs have demanded nullification of the national elections in a move to block the possible election to the presidency of Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, candidate of the Popular Revolutionary Alliance—APRA.

Long hated by the military, Haya de la Torre was high man in the presidential balloting on a leftist but avowedly anti-Communist ticket. He failed, however, to get the one-third of the total vote required for election.

Under the constitution, the new Congress, scheduled to convene July 28, is to choose a president from among the three leading men in the presidential race. The military has charged Haya de la Torre got his big vote through fraud.

Prado's resistance to the military stems in part from the support APRA gave him in the 1956 presidential race. In return, Prado legalized the party and allowed Haya de la Torre to return from exile.

The second and third finishers in the presidential race were Fernando Belaunde Terry of the Popular Action party, a leftist who received but did not solicit Communist support, and Gen. Manuel Odría, former dictator who struck a moderate pose during the campaign.

The military has raised no objection to either Belaunde or Odría, but there has been speculation that the armed forces are prepared to nullify the elections, dissolve the new parliament and rule by decree until they decide to call new elections.

Mulligan is charged with possession of $1,010 of equipment belonging to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of East Alliance, in addition to the four charges on which he was bound over to the Grand Jury yesterday.

These four charges are for possession of approximately $5,000 worth of equipment stolen from the same places mentioned in the counts against Mrs. Mulligan.

The alleged leaders in the burglary ring, four Dinsio brothers, are awaiting hearings at the Mahoning County Court in Sebring. Judge Bruce Black said today he expects a hearing date will be set soon.

The Dinsios, James and William of Salem, Amil of near Geonford and Vincent of Washingtonville, are charged on numerous counts of possession of stolen property.

The stolen equipment was discovered in the homes of the suspects and at coal mines owned by the Dinsio brothers near Greenford and Leetonia, following raids during the past two months.

E. Palestine Board To Make Announceme

EAST PALESTINE—The Board of Education virtually completed action on filling two administrative and six teaching vacancies Monday night.

Announcement of the successful candidates for the positions of high school principal, six teaching spots, and high school clerk was not immediately made pending further deliberation this afternoon. President Roy S. Blackburn said the board's decisions will be reported Wednesday morning.

Re-employed last night were the nine school bus drivers at the same salary as last year.

Pennsy, New York Central Announce Plans for Merger

CHICAGO (AP)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads announced today a merger plan that they estimate will save an estimated $75 million a year within five years.

The lines said freight service will be improved generally and passenger service will not be changed except for terminal operations in New York and Chicago.

The plan, announced in Chicago and in New York, envisions a $70-million capital plant improvement program which the companies said will give new impetus to the national economy.

This will be financed partly through sale of released duplicate facilities, materials and real estate.

"Generally improved freight service with substantial economies was predicted through use of more favorable through routes, the merged equipment of both lines, and increased utilization of modern yards, shops and other facilities now used to capacity," the railroads said in a statement.

As for passenger service, it would not be changed, except that New York Central long-distance trains operating via Harmon, Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo would use Pennsylvania station in New York.

All other trains, including commuters, would continue to use present facilities.

In Chicago all trains would use Union Station except those New York Central trains now using the Illinois Central Terminal. These would continue to do so.

"Anticipated benefits of the merger," the statement said, "will reach an estimated $75 million per year within five years with completion of a $70 million capital plant improvement program which will give new impetus to the national economy."

The Pennsy and Central said the organization structure of the proposed merged railroad, including location of system and regional headquarters, is yet to be decided.

In general, the statement said, through freight moving between the Middle West and the New York City and New England areas would be routed by way of Cleveland, Buffalo and Albany.

Washington Belts L.A. 4-1

Yanks Using Weaker Clubs To Pull Away

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as if they didn't have enough going their way to start with, the American League leading New York Yankees also have the schedule working for them.

The Yankees, slowly moving away from the pack, owe their expanding lead to a dominance over the weaker clubs in the league. What's more, the leaders have more games remaining with the lower three teams than their principal rivals for the No. 1 spot, Los Angeles and Cleveland, now tied for second.

Against Boston, Kansas City and Washington, the last three teams in the standings, New York has a 17-4, .810 record. Los Angeles is 25-11, .694 and Cleveland is 18-12, .600.

Which means the Yanks not only beat those three more often, they also have more remaining with them. New York has 33 games left, Los Angeles 18 and Cleveland 24 with the also-rans. This could be indicative of a number of things, one of them being that the Yanks may be a little hard to catch.

New York used that beat-the-weak-teams formula Monday to push its lead to 3 1/2 games, beating Kansas City 3-1. Los Angeles slipped back to a tie for second with idle Cleveland when Washington's Don Rudolph threw a four-hitter and beat the Angels 4-1 in the only other American League game scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco closed to within two games of idle Los Angeles on the strength of a 3-2 verdict over the New York Mets. Milwaukee shut out Cincinnati 3-0 and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 5-2. The Chicago Cubs were rained out of their game at Houston. Los Angeles and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

The Yankee triumph over Kansas City was their eighth in 10 games with the A's this season and their fourth straight. Kansas City now has lost six in a row.

A couple of errors by Billy Conzolo and Whitey Ford's pitching were the key factors as the Yanks expanded their lead to its widest margin of the season.

A Conzolo miscue in the second inning paved the way for two unearned New York runs, while Ford—8-5—had a five-hit shutout going into the ninth before he tired and had to have help from Jim Bouton.

Bob Johnson drove in three runs with a homer and a single in support of Rudolph's quick triumph over Los Angeles. The contest took only an hour and 32 minutes to complete, the fastest of the season and one of the fastest in recent years.

Johnson broke the scoreless duel with his solo homer in the fourth and put it out of reach with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

Stepanic's Gains 13th Victory 6-3

Stepanic's Tavern maintained its one-game lead in the Class A softball circuit with a 6-3 verdict over Purity Deeres in one of three loop encounters played Monday at Kelley Park.

In other games second place Old Dutch rapped Industrial Mining by the score of 10-1 and Lincoln Machine needed an extra inning to hand Tullis American an 8-6 setback.

THE LEAGUE LEADING Stepanic's crew scored its 13th victory in 18 starts as it spotted Purity a 1-0 margin in the second canto on a double by Bob Chapman and singles by Jim Ramsey, Jim Stoffer and Bob Woolf.

A four-run rally in the third stanza broke the tilt wide open and sent Stepanic's coasting into the triumph. Pacing the rally was a home run by Dave Drakulich along with a single by Randall Wright and a double by Jack Myers.

Vince Weyant with two singles paced the Stepanic attack. Ken Cranston with a triple and a single led the way for Purity (4-14).

Industrial Mining grabbed a 1-0 lead over Old Dutch in the first frame on a walk to Bob Adams,
a sacrifice and a single by Doug Hill. The winners then went to work and in the second frame five runs crossed the plate and Old Dutch was on its way to its 11th win against five defeats.

Sparking the five-run onslaught were four consecutive walks by IM hurler Steve Sivulich, and singles by Dick Wyss, Red Weingart and Roger Stille. The loss was the 11th in 16 starts for the Mining crew.

THE OLD DUTCH NINE

added four tallies in the fifth canto with a home run by Jim Barnes providing the big blow.

Weingart featured for the Old Dutch aggregation with two singles while Hill socked two of the three singles Industrial Mining collected off Glen Mercer.

Lincoln Machine had to battle Tullis American up hill for the entire game as the losers took a 3-0 lead in the first inning and moved to a 6-2 margin by the fourth stanza.

A four-run uprising in the seventh inning by Lincoln sent the game into the extra frame. Bill Crookston led off the seventh with a single and was followed by another single by Bill DeFavero, Bill Pauline reached base on an error and Jack Jackson rapped a homer to pace the rally.

With the tilt deadlocked at 6-6 going into the eighth canto the winners managed to score twice while holding Tullis' scoreless in the overtime time. Singles by Bob Shoff and Gene Hammett and a double by Charles Marks produced the winning runs.

TULLIS AMERICAN 8-9 got two walks, an error, a triple by Wayne Hahn and a single by Dave Roller to spark its first inning rally that pushed three runs across the plate.

Jackson was the big man in the Lincoln (10-7) attack, as he chalked up three of the 13 hits for the winners. Hammett, DeFavero, and Hank Miller added two safeties apiece for Lincoln.

Jerry Hendricks collected two singles to feature for the Tullis nine.

Comes To Terms With Pipers

Lucas Inks Pact To Play In NBA

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas has ended the suspense. He says he's going to play full time for the Cleveland Pipers of the National Basketball Association.

Even before the three-time All-America wound up his fabulous career at Ohio State in March, a tremendous guessing game had been in progress. Lucas said he didn't want to play professionally.

Few believed him. The Pipers, then in the American Basketball League, and the NBA's Cincinnati Royals, drafted the 6-foot-8 ace.

Lucas chose the Pipers over the Royals and signed a two-year contract on May 17 for $10,000 annually, plus an investment portfolio worth another $40,000.

The Pipers were awarded a franchise in the NBA a week ago. That caused complications involving Lucas, who had signed with the Pipers because of the shorter ABL schedule. He said it permitted him to continue his education.

Lucas said his contract was for playing in the ABL, not the NBA.

Lucas met over the weekend with George Steinbrenner, president of the Pipers, who said Monday night Lucas had agreed on a new two-year contract.

In Columbus, Lucas said he signed Sunday night, adding that the new agreement "is a larger contract, one which is agreeable to both parties."

Steinbrenner said the new contract is "basically the same as the old one." He said money was not a consideration in getting Lucas' signature.

"He's a funny kid," said Steinbrenner. "Money is not that important to him. What he's interested in are his education and job considerations—what he can do when he's finished playing."

Lucas was given the option of playing with the Pipers only on weekends at the start while completing his studies at Ohio State.

"He feels he can't do justice to the team or himself under those conditions," Steinbrenner said, adding: "Will Play From Beginning"

"Jerry told he's going to finish school at Ohio State in the spring quarter and go to graduate school in the summer. He'll be with us right from the beginning and that's wonderful news."

Lucas, now attending summer sessions at Ohio State, will complete his course Aug. 24 and move to Cleveland a few days later. He still will have one term left for his degree after the summer courses.

Asked if he anticipated any trouble with his legs while playing the full season in the rugged NBA, Lucas said:

"I've never had any serious trouble in this respect once I have reached the proper condition, and I plan to start working out soon three or four times a week."

BATTING — Johnny Logan Pirates, playing because regular third baseman Don Hoak was out with an injury, hit a grand slam-mer to give the Pirates a 5-2 victory over St. Louis.

PITCHING — Bob Hendley, Braves, allowed six hits, struck out five and did not walk a batter pitching the Braves to a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Bucs Nip Cards, Cop 17th Win In Last 21 Starts; Reds Lose

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente thought he should have been voted the National League's most valuable player two years ago when he helped Pittsburgh win the pennant by batting .314. But Pirate shortstop Dick Groat, who won the batting title with .325, got the award.

Clemente Edged By Robinson

Clemente thought he should have received the award last year when he led the league with a win the rubber match of the

.351 batting average. But the Pirates finished sixth and Frank Robinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds gained the honor.

So this year Clemente figures the only chance he has to win that coveted title is for him to cop the batting title again and Pittsburgh to win the pennant.
Both Roberto and the Pirates are making a determined bid to do just that.

With Clemente hitting safely in his 14th consecutive game, and utility infielder Johnny Logan coming through with a grand slam homer, the Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 Monday night to inch within four games of the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers. It was Pittsburgh's 17th victory in their last 21 games.

The second place San Francisco
Giants edged out the New York Mets 3-2 to narrow the Dodgers' margin to two games while the Milwaukee Braves, behind the six-hit pitching of southpaw Bob Hendley, blanked the Cincinnati
Reds 3-0.

Rain forced the postponement of a Chicago Cub-Colt game scheduled at Houston. The Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phils were not scheduled.

Logan Raps Grand Slam

Clemente's hit Monday figured prominently in the Pirates' winning rally Ray Sadecki of the Cards held a 2-1 lead when Groat opened the sixth with a walk and Clemente singled. After Dick Stuart fled out, Bob Skinner walked and Logan cleaned the bases with a homer, his first extra base hit of the season. The blast enabled Al McBean to register his fourth straight and tenth victory of the season.

Stan Musial of the Cards had three for three, giving him six of the last seven.

Bob Garibaldi, San Francisco's $135,000 bonus pitcher, snuffed out a ninth inning rally by the Mets with one pitch to help the Giants

Beginning Swim Class For Adults Scheduled

A beginner's class for adults will begin Monday, at Centennial Park Pool at 8 p.m. This class is being inaugurated because of the interest being shown by the adults in this area who cannot swim.

The lessons will be held once a week on Monday evenings at 8 and since they will be held during our regular commercial swimming time, the people taking this course will have to pay for admission to the Pool.

The sign-up for this class will be at the Pool every day this week. A limit of sixty will be enforced.

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Ernie
Davis, Syracuse University's All-America halfback, made his football debut here in 1953 as a lineman because he was too heavy to carry the ball. He was 13 years old at the time.

three-game series.

Don Larsen, the second Giant pitcher, had walked the first two Mets in the ninth. Stu Miller came in, retired the next two batters, but gave up a run-scoring single to Richie Ashburn, cutting the Giants' lead to 3-2.

Garibaldi, the 20-year-old right-hander from Santa Clara who donned a Giant uniform for the first time Sunday, replaced Miller and induced Rod Kanehl to hit his first pitch to Willie Mays a center field to end the game.

Jack Sanford gained his 11th victory for the Giants, made possible in the top of the ninth when pinch-runner Manny Mota scored on Bob Miller's second wild pitch of the inning. Roger Craig, the starter, was charged with his 13th defeat.

Adcock, McMillan Homer

Home runs by Joe Adcock and Roy McMillan supported Henley's masterful pitching, which resulted in his sixth triumph for the Braves. Both homers—McMillan's came with one on—were at the expense of Joey Jay, who had beaten the Braves five straight times since traded to the Reds last year for McMillan. It was

Carry Back Proves Critics Were Wrong

NEW YORK (AP)—Just a year ago, Carry Back was recovering at Monmouth Park from an injury suffered in the Belmont Stakes six weeks earlier, and there were those who said he'd never race again.

Jack Price, who trains Carry Back for his wife, Katherine, of Miami, shrugged off the detractors and vowed the rugged brown son of Saggy-Joppy, by Star Blen, would show 'em.

Carry Back never was better last Saturday down in New Jersey, where just 365 days later he came back to confound his critics and win the $109,150 Monmouth Park Handicap with a blazing track record performance.

The colt had proven the critics wrong as early as last Oct. 28 at Garden State Park when he whipped seven rivals in the $75,000 Trenton Handicap. His first major victory this year was the $100,000 Metropolitan Mile at Aqueduct May 30, when he whipped Kelso, 1960 and 1961 Horse of the Year. At Monmouth Saturday, Kelso was second in the big handicap.

They called C. B. "the peepul's cherce" after he won the 1961 Kentucky Derby, and followed up with the Preakness in two of racing's greatest thrillers.

Price makes no bones about his aim—Horse of the Year for 1962. Such a tag wouldn't hurt Carry Back's breeding fee when he's retired to stud after this season.

The former Cleveland manufacturer who once old candy, soft drinks, smokes and magazines on railroad trains was asked about Prove It, the California horse who knocked off the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup last Saturday. It was Prove It's third big one in a row.

"We had never ducked anyone," said Price. "We've hooked Kelso, and I don't see why we have to worry about Prove It. He knows where we are."

Carry Back was assigned 127 pounds for the $100,000 Brooklyn Handicap, his next start, Saturday at Aqueduct. Kelso was pegged at 130 pounds, but there is a question whether he'll go in the Brooklyn, which, like the Monmouth, is at 1 1/4 miles.

Co. 17-5 behind Jim Marks' two-hitter.

Bill Odorizzi and Rick Ewing collected three hits apiece to lead the way for Ailes. Bob Herron and Jerry Morrison chipped in with two safeties each for the winners.

Ernie Stevens and Bob Ruskousky socked the two singles off Marks. In gaining the win, Marks fanned seven and walked six.

Winless Howard's Studio went down to its 12th defeat as the Dairy Isle turned the trick 20-5 as Tom Dominic and Terry Yingling combined to hurl a three-hitter.

A 15-RUN ONSLAUGHT in the second inning turned the game into a rout for the Dairy nine.

Dan Merrill paced the winners' attack with three hits. Dale Cody added a homer and Yingling chipped in with a triple and a double. Jim Mercier collected two of the three Howard's hits, a double and a single.

Browns' New QB Bids for No. 1 Post

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Ryan, obtained by the Cleveland Browns as backup quarterback to Jim Ninowski, isn't content to think of himself as someone to be used in a pinch.

"I definitely feel I have a chance to be No. 1," the former Los Angeles Rams passer, who came to the Browns in a trade last week, said Sunday.

"I'm looking forward to fighting it out with Jim Ninowski." "Some players may be satisfied to set on the bench and collect a check, but I'm in football because I like to play the game. I consider it a good break coming to the Browns."

The Browns got Ryan and half-back Tom Wilson from the Rams in exchange for tackle Larry Stephens and two undisclosed draft choices.

"I had some differences with coach Bob Waterfield of the Rams and told him I wouldn't be back," said Ryan, who is studying for his doctorate in physics at Rice Institute. "I asked to be traded. 'Truly, I was beginning to get worried when there was no news. So it was a welcome telephone call from the Browns.'"

Ryan was in Cleveland for a day's briefing by Blanton Collier, the Browns' backfield coach. Ryan is due to report to the Browns' training camp at Hiram College Sunday.

Morning League Schedule

The Morning Junior Baseball League season will swing into action Wednesday at 10 a.m. with over 130 youngsters reporting to diamonds at Reilly School and Buckeye School.

All boys participating are requested to report to their respective team by 9:45 a.m. ready to play. Each boy is to bring his own glove. Tennis shoes only are permitted. No steel or rubber spiked shoes will be allowed.

Because of the Ohio Hot Stove Sectional Tournament that is being played in Salem the next two weekends, the Morning League will not play on Saturday until the tourney is over.

All persons interested in helping out with these youngsters are urged to report to one of the games this week and see John Herman, the League president, or contact James Kelley, Harry Lodge, Roger Tuel or any of the other instructors.

A trophy will be awarded after the season to the Morning League championship and the runner-up. At the end of the season an All-Star team will be selected from the League and will play a Class H League aggregation.

Morning League Schedule (All games at 10 a.m.)

Wednesday — Blues vs Reds at Reilly; Orange vs Black at Buckeye. Thursday — Yellow vs Green at Reilly; White vs Brown at Buckeye. Monday — Orange vs Red at Reilly; Blues vs Black at Buckeye. WHAT WILL YOU EARN

5... Years

FROM TODAY?

If you're now with a company that is growing rapidly, moving ahead, gaining in rank and prestige—AND if you are not stymied by a "fixed" position, chances are your earnings will be substantially greater in five years. We probably have little to talk about.

On the other hand, perhaps Herr's phenomenal growth, the "ground floor" opportunity, and the obvious number of better earning positions is what you have subconsciously been looking for.

Don't misunderstand — While our salaries are above average, they're not phenomenal. But what we do offer are the avenues to increasingly better pay—year after year after year.

If you have experience in steel mill strip processing equipment—AND ONLY if you have this experience—perhaps we should get together.

Questions And Answers

Q—I continually have a foul taste in my mouth. My teeth are in perfect condition. I brush them a million times a day. You once wrote that adenoid drainage may cause bad breath in children. Can this happen to adults, too?

My tonsils have been taken out but I do have excessive mucus in my throat at times. Bad breath certainly is no asset to anyone and especially in a 21-year-old girl who is dating boys and making contact with people. I find myself backing away from people all the time. Can't you shed some light on my problem? It is causing me great mental anguish.

A—You're confusing two things. What you call a foul taste is something you notice. Bad breath is noted objectively by some person other than you.

I would suggest you determine first if you truly have halitosis, for this condition despite what you see in advertisements, is very rare. To do this, ask some older person you trust to give you a direct answer after testing.

If your suspicion is confirmed, you might then visit a nose and throat specialist for, if the mucus that collects in your throat turns out to be secretion that comes from your sinuses and collects in the back of your throat (postnasal drip), this may be the cause for the bad taste and the foul breath.

However, from the fact that you are "dating boys" and, as you say, "making contacts," it's more than likely that your "mental anguish" is not warranted by the facts.

Q—D you have a leaflet on what to tell a little boy about the facts of life? My son is now 12 years old. He is very shy and hard to talk to.

A—You may obtain excellent booklets on sex hygiene from the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. Write first for a complete catalog and then check the titles you want.

Q—Is there a new drug or a new form of treatment that has proved helpful in the care of children with cerebral palsy?

A—Excellent results are being obtained at the Children's Rehabilitation Institute in Reisterstown, Md., by Dr. Winthrop M. Phelps, a recognized authority on cerebral palsy, through use of a muscle relaxant drug.

The drug is not curative in any sense, of course, but it does permit children to handle their braces more easily and eat, dress and perform their toilet routines with less tension and greater facility. Since the drug requires a prescription and can be given only under doctor's observation, you are best advised to have your physician communicate directly with Dr. Phelps.

15 Persons Presented Nursing Aide Certificates

Fifteen persons who completed a seven-week course on "How To Be a Nursing Aide in a Nursing Home" were presented certificates Friday night at the Hannah E. Mullins School of Practical Nursing.

Shown above during the presentation are (l. to r.) Mrs. Charlotte Conser, R. N., instructor; Mary Patterson; Bonita Mathey; Katherine Schweikart, nurse consultant of the State Health Department, presenting a certificate; Ann Skrivaneck; Millie Mather; Leora Mae Herron; Georgia Lightner; Alice Webber; Imogene Mae Merritt; Mrs. Mary Ann Bricker, R. N., instructor.

Second row: T. E. McGowan, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Myers, nursing home operator; Alma Roberts; Dorothy Donahue, nursing home operator; Emma Nolan; Ethel L. Hall; Jean Morgan and William Copeland.

The course was sponsored by the Ohio Department of Health in cooperation with the Central Ohio Heart Association and Salem City Health Department. Classes were held three times a week at the nursing school.

Mrs. Bricker and Mrs. Conser were the nurse-teachers. Six hours on physical rehabilitation was taught by Henri Guyette, registered physical therapist of the Ohio Department of Health.

Three hours of environmental health and sanitation were taught by Bob Kauer and staff, Ohio Department of Health, and Angelo Vivino of the Salem City Health Department.

The following nursing homes participated in the program: Albright-Hutton, Ruby's Rest Home, Myers Rest Home, Shady Lane Nursing Home and Valley Road Nursing Home.
